seed culture

seedscape

Seedscape is visualized as an annual exhibition of the students' work at SEED. It aims to place the pedagogical explorations of the school outside of its own boundaries. The latest edition of Seedscape in March 2023, took the students' work out to the public space in Mattancherry, in the very midst of the Kochi Muziris Biennale. The exhibition, designed by artist & educator Murali Cheerth, went much beyond the discipline of a professional course, and truly engaged people from outside of the architectural sphere as its true stakeholders

seed culture

seediagonals

Seediagonals is a semester-break school that offers additional certification courses & workshops for students and young graduates to improve their skill sets and expand their knowledge on multiple aspects of architecture, design, and allied subjects. The latest edition of SEEDIAGONALS 3.0 was part of the SEEDGEIST – an annual festival of the school that took place from March 18th to April 12th at Muvattupuzha & Mattanchery. It included workshops on design-build, exhibition design, film making, murals and textiles.

seedialogues

SEED launched Seedialogues in 2020, a platform with a vision to connect with a spectrum of stakeholders & engage in lively debates and critical discourse on issues in architectural theory and practice. Seedialogues seeks to foster collaboration, inspire transformative thinking, and shape the future of architectural discourse in a collective and inclusive manner.

studio reviews

The semester-end reviews at Seed are a serious opportunity for the student and tutor community to bring subject experts and industry leaders into their midst. There is a wide array of people sharing their experience with the Seed community through the process of the review discussions & open discussions over their own work. Also, stalwarts invited to the year-end exhibition give their feedback on the pedagogical directions of each semester, with the student community in the audience.

seedtrack

Seedtrack is the annual sports fest of Seed. The 2-day intercollege festival is a perfect blend of sports, entertainment and cultural activities that provide a fantastic platform for students from across the state to interact and engage with their peers.

seedsocial
